Libby (affectionately known as Momma and Memaw) loved her children and especially her grandchildren. She had a passion for helping people and cared for many throughout the years. “ After being friends with Libby for over 53 years she is more of a sister than a friend . Good ride a book on some of the things we did together. The trouble we got into, the things we got away with. She will always be in my heart because she will always be a great memory to me I will always love you Libby and you beat me in the race again

“ Libby was helping my sister with day to day things as she was recovering from her first stroke. My sister was staying with Libby and her family near Bonaify. My wife and I decided to drive down from Virginia for a short visit. Every thing seemed to be good, so before we left I thought it would be a good idea to have a fish fry to show our appreciation for Libby taking care of my sister. I spoke to Libbys husband and he was in. My wife seemed a bit skeptical of MY idea. So the plans were set motion. Ryan worked in Dothan. I called him to pickup some fish on the way home. Finally I approached Libby with the plans for dinner. What could go wrong? Every one loves fish, easy to cook. Just heat the oil and drop them in . Right? Anyway, as soon as I began my plans, I could detect just a bit of dismay in her facial expression. You know batter, hush puppies ^odrinks and so forth.. For a moment I thought maybe we had over stayed our visit. But she smiled that award winning smile, stepped into the breech and put together all the little things that makes a cookout successful. We all enjoyed the meal and the fellowship that made it better. That's who Libby was. She was there when needed, never complaining helping whomever was in need.

My family and Libby's family have been close for years and years. I was not around Libby much in her growing up because my husband was military, and we lived away. However, at Thanksgiving 2019, her son, Ryan, met my daughter, Genea. They fell in love and got married in 2020. This really brought an extra closeness for Libby and me; her son and my daughter married! I love and miss Lib's laughter, her caring heart, and her sweet demeanor very much. Someday we'll all have a big reunion in heaven! ❤️
