“ When I moved to Poplar Springs area as a young man in high school I worried about fitting in and making new friends. Shelton was one of many that made me feel welcome and I will always be Thankful for that. Those were the good ole days. Shelton was always laughing at my stupid antics and jokes he use to laugh even when my jokes didn't land. We lost touch all those years ago when I moved to Texas. It was just a few years back that we reconnected on Facebook and we chatted off and on it was like I never left that small town. I wish I could have been there for him like he was for me. I am heartbroken to here this about my friend. May he Rest In Peace.
